APCOA signs multi-million deal for EV chargers with Compleo UK

APCOA Parking UK Ltd has signed a multi-million deal with Compleo Charging Solutions UK to supply EV charging stations for their growing network.

The deal will see Compleo UK deliver a further 1000 AC charging stations by the end of 2024. It furthers the relationship between APCOA and Compleo after their initial partnership saw 451 AC chargers being installed across six Network Rail public car parks last year.

This expansion will also see APCOA extend their service offering in the EV market by providing 24-7 customer support via their National Customer Service Centre and dedicated maintenance and support teams, giving EV drivers confidence, and ensuring a high-level of uptime on their network.

“Compleo’s commitment to continuous development of charging technology and the support from the UK team make Compleo the perfect partner for our AC EV charge point network” said Kim Challis, Regional Managing Director UK&I and Group ESG Director. The APCOA Connect payment app puts accessibility and customer experience first and is integrated via API with the Compleo backend software, enabling EV drivers to park and charge in either one single payment or separate transactions.

“We are excited with our partnership with APCOA” said Valentin Scheltow, MD of Compleo UK “The two organisations have in a short period of time made significant progress in the market. We are now actively working on our next project for a major NHS Trust and 5 different city centre car parks across the UK”.
